

Math Moments with Mrs. Mory

I have been enjoying my first few months in my new position as a Math Specialist. Periodically, I hope to share math tips and activities to support your child's learning of math concepts.

I would like to recommend a wonderful math site titled, Bedtime Math <http://bedtimemath.org>. Bedtime Math is a non-profit organization that aims to make nightly math as common as the bedtime story. The site includes a short story focused on subjects that appeal to children of all ages. The story is then followed up with a math problem geared to different levels of difficulty ranging from pre-kindergarten to teens, and even adults. I highly recommend this site!

Ready for our cold Wisconsin winter? How about making some hot chocolate and enjoying a Family Game Night? I have included a list of math games you may be interested in. Click on the link Math Board Games to view games that focus on different math concepts.
